ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Picture Frame

A picture frame comprises several frame ledges-(10) being interconnectable via connecting elements-(12). For this connection, rod-shaped projections-(20) of the connecting elements-(12) are inserted into insertion pockets-(18). The connection is effected by friction so that the connecting elements-(12) and the frame ledges-(10) are releasably interconnected without a troublesome mounting being required to this end.
